*HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE LONG ISLAND COLLEGE HOSPITAL.

In the month of March, 1856, the Brooklyn German General Dispensary was organized at 132 Court St. (now 146, second house from Pacific). This record was taken from Smith's Brooklyn City Directory for the year of 1856.

From the official record of the Dispensary, now in the custody of the Board of Regents of the Long Island College Hospital, which bears upon its back the title "Diarium," we learn that the first case was treated on March 17, 1856; that the patient's name was Louis Prell, that he lived at No. 3 Hamilton Avenue, and that he was suffering from "Splenitis chronica."

In 1857, we find The Directory locates the dispensary at 145 Court St. (now 217), and further states that it is open to the poor from 2 to 4 o'clock every day, Sunday excepted.

Here, on October 27, 1857, a meeting was held, which must be regarded as the beginning of the Long Island College Hospital. On November 6, 1857, it passed from the hands of its organizers and became "The St. John's College Hospital." From its organization, March, 1856, to November 6, 1857, when it ceased to be the Brooklyn German General Dispensary, 850 patients were treated in it. It was in reality, a hospital as well as a dispensary, for besides providing for out-door patients, it had wards in which cases were treated and operations were performed.

"In behalf of the German General Dispensary Dr. Louis Bauer generously proposed a transfer to the St.

*This Historical sketch is based on Dr. Joseph H. Raymond's History of Long Island College Hospital.

John's Hospital of the furniture and property of the dispensary contained in the premises No. 147 Court Street, together with the lease of the building until the first of May, 1860, which offer was gratefully accepted, with the thanks of the meeting to him, and the gentlemen represented by him."

On December 3, 1857, the projectors held a meeting at which the following gentlemen were present: S. W. Slocum, in the chair; C. N. Bovee, secretary, and Messrs. Messenger, Chauncey, Hegeman, O'Sullivan, Hart, O'Gorman, Miller and Dever. The secretary was requested to insert the proper notices in the State paper and the Brooklyn Daily Eagle of an application to the Legislature for a charter.

On December 23, 1857, a meeting was held pursuant to notice. On motion of Mr. Samuel Sloan the name of the institution was changed from "St. John's College Hospital" to "The Long Island Hospital and Medical College."

On February 4, 1858, the first regular meeting of the Regents of the Long Island College Hospital was held. The following gentlemen were present: Messrs. S. W. Slocum, chairman; L. K. Miller, secretary pro tem. (Mr. Bovee, secretary, being absent); Davis (Dever), Cortelyou, Miller, Chauncey, Messenger, Sullivan (O'Sullivan) and Hart.

During this year the Board of Regents purchased the land known as the Perry property, bounded in front by Henry Street, northerly by Pacific Street and southerly by Amity Street, being about 200 feet wide, front and rear, and 169 feet on each side, for the sum of $31,250, of which they promised to pay $11,250 the first of May, 1858, assuming mortgages on the property for the balance.

On March 5, 1858, a charter was granted by act of Legislature and duly recorded at a meeting of the members of the Long Island College Hospital, held under the late act of the Legislature, incorporating the institution on March 13, 1858. Present—Hon. Samuel Sloan, Messrs. Daniel Chauncey, Nathaniel E. James, Samuel W. Slocum, Harold Dollner, James S. Brownson, Richard L. Delisser, Henry Messenger, John J. Van Nostrand, Eugene O'Sullivan, Robert H. Berdell, Henry F. Vail, Luther B. Wyman, Jacques Cortelyou, Theodore Polhemus, Jr., Livingston K. Miller, Cornelius Dever and C. N. Bovee. Hon. Samuel Sloan was called to the chair, and L. K. Miller was appointed Secretary. The act of incorporation, Chapter 19 of the Laws of 1858, passed March 6, 1858, was read, accepted and adopted.

On motion of Mr. Sloan it was resolved that Drs. Chauncey L. Mitchell, William H. Dudley, Theodore L. Mason and John Byrne, be appointed members of the first Council of the institution.

In April, 1858, the following gentlemen were elected as officers and members of the Board of Regents: Hon. Samuel Sloan, President; Samuel W. Slocum, Vice-President; C. Nestell Bovee, Secretary; Cornelius Dever, Treasurer; Regents, Hon. Samuel Sloan, Samuel W. Slocum, Harry Messenger, C. Nestell Bovee, Livingston K. Miller, Jacques Cortelyou, Abraham B. Baylis, Richard L. Delisser, Cornelius Dever, Daniel Chauncey, Joseph Hegeman, James S. Brownson, Nathaniel E. James, Theodore Polhemus, Jr., Charles Christmas, Nicholas Luqueer, Eugene O'Sullivan, Harold Dollner, Henry F. Vail, Robert H. Berdell, Luther B. Wyman, John T. Moore, John J. Van Nostrand, George F. Thomae and Samuel Smith. Mr. Esslinger was appointed Warden.

The inauguration festival was held June 3 at the Athenaeum and the leading members of the medical profession of Brooklyn and New York were present. After the dinner, speeches were made by Hon. Samuel Sloan, President of the Board of Regents, T. L. Mason, M.D., and Louis Bauer, M.D.

On November 7 the new building was thrown open to the public.

In 1859 there came a crisis in the internal affairs of the institution, and on December 22, at the next meeting of the Board of Regents, the sale of the property to Dr. Wm. H. Dudley was reported for the sum of $28,550, subject to mortgages to the amount of $20,000.

Mr. Thomae moved that the executive officers be authorized and directed to execute a deed of the property sold to the purchaser under the seal of the corporation on his complying with the terms of the sale; this was carried. This deed is dated January 12, 1860, and is recorded in Liber of Conveyance 517, page 241, the consideration being $8,550. The property remained vested in Dr. Dudley until May 11, 1865. Mr. Christmas offered a resolution that the chairman of the Liquidating Committee be authorized to make a settlement of the liens on the property required to be discharged by the terms of the sale, to adjust the liens of the Regents under the second mortgage, and have that mortgage discharged out of the proceeds of the sale and the pro rata assessments of the Regents for their proportions of the floating debt, including the payment of that debt, which resolution was adopted. The agreement of the Regents to pay their proportions of the debt was then signed by all present in these words:

"We, the undersigned, hereby agree to pay our proportions on demand, of the debt now outstanding on the Long Island College Hospital, as the same may be certified and approved by Liquidating Committee, H. Messenger, E. O'Sullivan, T. H. Rodman and C. Dever, Treas.

"Brooklyn, December 13, 1859.

Sam Sloan (not to exceed three hundred dollars to be deducted from note now held by me.)

Cornelius Dever (not to exceed three hundred dollars to be deducted from note now held by me.)

George F. Thomae (not to exceed three hundred dollars to be deducted from note now held by me.)

Abraham B. Baylis.

Theodore Polhemus, Jr., on same conditions as Mr. Sloan.
Charles Christmas.
H. Dollner.
N. E. James.
Eugene O'Sullivan.
Harry Messenger.
John J. Van Nostrand.
Thomas H. Rodman."

The following year brought forth the re-opening of the Long Island College Hospital and the real history of the College Hospital as an institution of learning was begun for the express purpose of so uniting a hospital and medical college as to bring the patients in the hospital under the direct care of the instructors in the college, the greatest importance being given to clinical teaching.

The proceedings on this occasion were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Francis Vinton, after which Dr. T. L. Mason made an address in which he stated the objects for which the institution was established, and gave a brief history of it. In the course of his remarks he adverted to the beneficial effect which such an institution would have upon the city.

After referring to the central and healthy location of Brooklyn, and its schools of great excellence, its churches and teachers of religion, Dr. Mason said, "Brooklyn, possessing all these advantages, had neglected too long to establish schools for professional education. This thing she lacked, and in this she was behind all the cities of her size in this country and in Europe. This was felt to be a reproach which ought to be removed from her, and it is a source of honest pride, I think, that it has been permitted to medical men to take the first step toward the performance of that duty."

During the year 1861 Mr. Samuel Sloan resigned the presidency, having served since April 8, 1858. Mr. Sloan's resignation was accepted May 27 and Mr. H. B. Cromwell was elected president, holding office until December 28, on which day his resignation was accepted and Mr. Samuel Sloan was unanimously re-elected to the position which he had so ably filled from April 8, 1858, to May 27, 1861.

At a special meeting of the Board of Regents which was held July 21, 1862, it was resolved: "To take into consideration the proper course to be pursued under existing circumstances; one hundred and twenty-five wounded soldiers having been received into the Hospital, and numerous contributions having been liberally made by the citizens of Brooklyn, for their comfort and relief, and many sympathizing friends having volunteered their services to watch with and nurse the suffering thus placed under our care. It was deemed proper to make some public acknowledgment of our obligation to those who have provided such timely relief and assistance."

The following card was prepared for publication in the newspapers in accordance with the above:

"At a special meeting of the Board of Regents of the Long Island College Hospital, held Monday evening, July 21st inst., it was resolved that the thanks of this Board are due and are hereby tendered to the public of the City of Brooklyn for the efficient and timely sympathy expressed for the wounded and sick soldiers at present under the charge of this institution with which we have the honor to be connected, and beg leave to assure those who have so liberally contributed the many articles so essential to the comfort and relief of the suffering soldiers, that their munificence is not unappreciated by the poor men for whose benefit this liberality has been displayed. It is the intention of the Board, at a future time, to make a more extended acknowledgement by publishing a list of the contributions with the names of the donors."

The whole period from December 29, 1862 to March 17, 1864, might well be ignored, as nothing of moment occurred. On the latter date Dr. Mason, who at this meeting was elected a Regent, reported that a few friends of the institution without organized effort on the part of the Officers or Regents had subscribed $7,000 towards paying off the debt now amounting to about $22,000, providing the whole amount be raised and the institution be relieved of its liabilities. On March 28 Mr. Theodore Polhemus, Jr., was elected President of the Board of Regents. During the commencement exercises, which were held in the Athenaeum July 1, 1864, Dr. T. L. Mason, in the course of remarks which he made as President of the College, said that during the six years of its existence the institution had relieved more than 40,000 patients. During the year just past, 1,000 in-door and as many out-door patients had been treated; and that the College was out of debt for current expenses. The permanent debt of the institution had been reduced from $32,000 to $21,000, besides having spent $5,000 for alterations, improvements, and furniture, making in all an outlay of $16,000. The only debt for which provision had not been made, up to May 1, 1864, was $21,000, which was secured by mortgage, and that toward the payment of this $18,000 had been subscribed, on condition that the whole should be raised within a reasonable time.

In order to raise $25,000, $21,000 for the mortgage debt and $5,000 for the maintenance of the hospital, the Regents offered the following inducements:

"1. Subscribers of $10 shall be entitled to ten tickets, which will introduce the bearer to the special notice of the medical attendants in the Out-door Department.

"2. The payment of $100 shall constitute the donor a life-member of this corporation with a like privilege.

"3. The payment of $500 secures a life-membership of the corporation, with one free scholarship in the College. Each scholarship entitles the holder to educate one student or two nurse pupils, free of expense, except the matriculation fee of $5 for each year of attendance and the regular graduation fee of the College.

"4. Larger donations than these will secure all the above mentioned privileges, with such other acknowledgements as the Board of Regents may from time to time institute.

Signed,

Theodore Polhemus, Jr.,
John J. Van Nostrand,
F. W. Keutgen,
Thomas H. Rodman,
Gustavus A. Brett, Committee."

And at the meeting of December 5, 1864, the Committee on Subscriptions reported that $22,800 had been subscribed, of which $12,320 had been paid in, and that the balance could probably be collected before May 15. Also the death of Mr. Theodore Polhemus, Jr., President of the Board of Regents, was announced, and Mr. Joseph Ripley was elected to that office, which he held until his resignation on April 30, 1866. On May 7, Mr. John James Van Nostrand was elected to fill the vacancy. During the year of 1868 the Board of Regents resolved that an additional building be erected on the Pacific Street side of the institution, and also to make improvements in the old building, and a loan of $20,000 was authorized for these purposes. It was also at this time that the Long Island College Hospital Journal Association was organized, which continued its existence until 1876. Its objects, "Were discussion of professional topics; reading of papers and reporting of new matter in the different medical journals."

On March 18, 1869, the new wing on the Pacific Street side of the institution was opened to public inspection and on October 29 of the following year authority was given to erect a new building at a cost of not more than $10,000, to accommodate additional U. S. sailors. This amount was increased to $12,000 and later to an amount necessary to complete the structure in a manner corresponding with the wing on the corner of Henry and Pacific Streets. On February 6, 1871, arrangements were made to have the new wing opened at the beginning of the collegiate term, one of its rooms to be appropriated to the use of any patient of the New York Physicians' Mutual Aid Association.

During the year of 1872 the first reading and recitation term began. On May 13, 1873, a pavilion hospital was authorized to be constructed at a cost of $300, the amount to be raised by voluntary contributions. The following year the construction of a new dissecting room was authorized at a cost not to exceed $3,000, of which amount the faculty of the college had previously agreed to pay $500. Mr. J. J. Van Nostrand resigned the presidency, and on April 5, 1875, Mr. Thomas H. Rodman was elected in his place. In 1881 a medical journal, The Pathologist, was published and was continued until 1883.

On June 25 the Faculty of the College agreed, in consideration of the Regents pulling down the one-story wooden structure facing on Henry Street and occupied by the Professors for lectures, etc., and replacing it with a two-story brick building, to reimburse them for the amount so expended in five yearly instalments, in addition to interest at the rate of five per cent. on the amount of principal remaining unpaid until the entire amount is settled—said annual payments to be a first lien on the payments for instruction to the Faculty until the entire amount be repaid.

Later, the Faculty agreed to add $1,000 to their original subscription of $5,000, contingent on the plans being approved by them. A mortgage of $12,500 was authorized, to be applied to the necessary rebuilding and repairs before mentioned, and contracts for the work were authorized to be made. It was at this time that a communication was received from the Alumni and undergraduates, offering to give a musical entertainment to provide means with which to purchase seats for the new amphitheatre; the offer was accepted. This concert was held in the First Baptist Church, on March 6, 1882, and the Regents adjourned their meeting in order to attend it.

The following year the nurses of the Society of Trained Nurses were withdrawn, and the upper story and lower rooms of the house S. E. corner of Henry and Pacific Streets were hired for a Nurses' Home, to be opened May 1, and a Committee was instructed to take the necessary steps to establish a training school for nurses. At this meeting the Board of Regents resolved to give $100 to the student who should pass the best examination.

On November 24, 1884, the Regents authorized the construction of a new building to be occupied by the Lying-in Department of the Hospital and for a Nurses' Home at a cost of $14,000. On December 6, 1886, it was announced to the Board that Dr. Wm. H. Dudley, whose death occurred October 9, 1886, had provided in his will for a medal to be annually awarded to the member of the graduating class of the collegiate department of the Long Island College Hospital who shall write the best clinical medical report or thesis upon a case in the Hospital Medical Ward, decision to be made by the council and faculty. At this time a notice was presented to the Board of Regents from the Alumni Association suggesting the propriety of giving the Alumni a voice in the selection of a representative in the Board of Regents.

During the year of 1887 the Hoagland Laboratory was erected and equipped by the late Cornelius N. Hoagland, M.D., one of the Regents of the Long Island College Hospital. The cost of the Laboratory was as follows: Site, $24,000; building, $56,606.74; cabinet work and furniture, $6,675.19; apparatus, $4,090.17; library, $3,093.09; pavement, $1,064.65; in all, $95,529.84. It is situated on the Southeast corner of Henry and Pacific Streets and is especially equipped for scientific research and instruction in Histology, Pathology and Bacteriology. The equipment includes the best apparatus manufactured at home and abroad, and is added to as improvements appear. The laboratory, together with necessary materials and animals for experimental purposes, is placed at the disposal of the teaching faculty.

Regent Henry W. Maxwell announced to the Board that it was his intention, in loving remembrance of the late Dr. William H. Dudley, to give annually a medal to be known as "The Dudley Memorial Medal," to be awarded to the student who shall write the best clinical report or thesis upon a case in the Surgical Ward of the Long Island College Hospital. The President and Prof. McCorkle were authorized to issue certificates to members of the graduating class who have pursued the study of physical diagnosis and are entitled thereto.

It was announced at a meeting of the Regents on November 5 that the late Mrs. James Humphrey had left a legacy of $10,000 to the institution.

The following year a legacy of $3,000 was announced as having been left by the late John James Van Nosstrand. During the year 1891 the thanks of the Regents were tendered to Mr. H. D. Polhemus, a Regent, for his gift of $5,000 to the institution. Bequests of $5,000 by the late R. P. Buck and John Ruszits were announced.

In 1892 the Regents received a communication from Rev. Charles L. Mitchell, of Winchester, Mass., stating that he desired to establish a prize in connection with the College Department in memory of his father, the late Dr. Chauncey L. Mitchell; for this purpose he sent to the Board a $1,000 bond; the interest on which is to be applied to the purchase of books or instruments; the award to be made to the students of the college under regulations to be made by the College Faculty.

The Faculty decided to award it to the member of the graduating class who in their judgment is the best qualified in all departments of medicine. On April 2, 1894, William W. Browning, M.D., Professor of Anatomy, sent the Board of Regents a check for $1,041.68—$1,000 of which was to establish a fund, the interest of which was to be given as a prize, to be known as the Corydon L. Ford prize,, to the student who performs the best work in the dissecting room during his academic career. On September 20, 1897, a communication was received from Mr. William B. Davenport, President of the Polhemus Memorial Clinic, stating that the Board of Regents is invited to occupy the College Department of the Polhemus Memorial Clinic as soon as the same is completed, for the purposes of the College. The Board unanimously resolved to accept the generous offer.

It was at this time that the Guild of Long Island College Hospital was formed. This organization owes its existence to Mrs. Frank E. West who, as a result of personal visitation to the wards of the Hospital, saw that much might be done to provide garments and other necessary articles for the sick children undergoing treatment there, many of whom came from homes of poverty, and were consequently insufficiently clothed.

In January, 1898, the Polhemus Memorial Clinic was opened and occupied by the Faculty of the College. The opening lecture was given by Professor Alex. J. C. Skene, President of the College Department.

In the spring of this year a communication was received from the U. S. War Department asking what facilities could be furnished for the care of sick and wounded soldiers. Preparations were at once made to care for ill and wounded soldiers when they arrived. Many hospital ships from Cuba and Porto Rico brought the ailing soldiers to this city. They came also from Camp Wikoff on Long Island and Chickamauga and a few from Governor's Island. In all, 421 men were admitted and treated with but 12 fatalities, a truly remarkable record when the serious nature of many of the cases is considered.

The institution of the present day is situated on the original site in the Borough of Brooklyn, City of

New York, on Henry Street near Atlantic Avenue, three blocks from South Ferry.

The equipment of the Long Island College Hospital consists of four buildings, viz.: the Hospital and Maternity, the Polhemus Memorial Clinic, the Hoagland Laboratory and the Dudley Memorial Home for Nurses.

The Hospital building occupies the block on the west side of Henry Street, between Pacific and Amity Streets. It was partly erected by the late Roger Maxwell as a Memorial to his brother, the late Henry W. Maxwell. The sudden death of Mr. Maxwell left the north wing of the Hospital not erected. Since then, through the munificence of the heirs of the late John Arbuckle, this wing is being erected as the "Arbuckle Memorial."

The Hospital, completed, contains 475 beds and will greatly enlarge the clinical facilities of the institution. The new building is a fireproof structure, fully equipped with every requirement for the care and treatment of patients.

The Polhemus Memorial Clinic, which is situated on the Southwest corner of Henry and Amity Streets, opposite the Hospital, was erected and endowed by Mrs. Caroline H. Polhemus as a memorial to her husband, Henry D. Polhemus, who was a Regent of the Long Island College Hospital and one of its most zealous friends and generous benefactors. The Hoagland Laboratory was founded by the late Cornelius N. Hoagland, M.D. This is the first privately endowed Laboratory for bacteriological instruction and research erected in this country.

The "Dudley Memorial" erected by the estate of the late Henry W. Maxwell, in memory of Wm. H. Dudley, M.D., is a large fireproof building designed as a home for the Training School for Nurses and has been recently enlarged.

The clinical resources of the institution are the Hospital, the Dispensary connected therewith, and other hospitals throughout the borough. The wards of the Hospital are in charge of the professors of surgery and medicine, and advanced students in sections accompany them on their daily rounds. Advanced students are also expected to be present at all important operations performed in the Hospital.

Museums of gynecology and obstetrics, of materia medica and of pathology are maintained for teaching purposes.

The students' library and reading room is well supplied with current journals and standard works; a librarian is in constant attendance. In addition to this library the students have access to the Hoagland Memorial reference library, which is well stocked with complete files of all the most important journals relating to bacteriology, physiology and scientific medicine. Smaller departmental libraries are maintained in all the laboratory departments, where are to be found reference books for immediate use. The library of the Medical Society of the County of Kings, containing over 65,000 volumes, is open to the students of this college.

ASSOCIATION OF THE ALUMNI OF THE LONG ISLAND COLLEGE HOSPITAL.

Although the Collegiate Department of the Long Island College Hospital had been in existence twenty years yet it was not until May 21, 1880, that any effort was made to organize an Alumni Association. On May 25 the 1st meeting was held for the purpose of organizing an Alumni Association. It was decided to hold a special meeting after the Commencement Exercises to offer an Alumni prize for the best original paper and receive other papers not in competition for the prize.

The objects of the Association are to promote the interests of the Long Island College Hospital in the work of medical education and to encourage and promote the scientific investigation of medical subjects, to receive and disburse gifts, to keep Alumni records up-to-date and from time to time to publish an Alumni Directory. The graduates at the present date number about 2,850, of whom a great number are members of the Association, which has brought about effective and concerted action in behalf of their Alma Mater.

The name of the institution by which it has been conferred follows the academic degree. The omission of it indicates that the degree was given by Long Island College Hospital.

A star (*) after a name denotes that the individual is deceased. In every case in which the year of the decease is known it is indicated at the right.

When an address appears in parentheses it denotes that it is the last known address.
